The Snail and the Salad

Tino wakes up in his little round shell.

His tummy goes rumble, rumble.

He is very, very hungry.

Mama says the salad is on the other side of the garden.

She says slow is still moving.

Tino nods and smiles.

Tino sets off along the pebble path.

Slowly, slowly, slowly, one tiny step after another.

The garden is very, very big.

One pebble is as big as a mountain.

Tino climbs up, up, up.

Then he slides down, wheee!

The sprinkler goes fsss!

Drip, drop, drip.

Tino waits under the spotted mushroom until the shower stops.

Buba lands beside him with a flit.

She says she will fly ahead and wait.

Off she goes, loop the loop!

A big boot stomps down.

Thump!

Tino pulls into his shell, and the boot stomps past.

Buba waits on a big crisp leaf.

The whole patch is green and crunchy.

Tino's tummy rumbles again.

Tino takes one tiny bite.

CRUNCH!

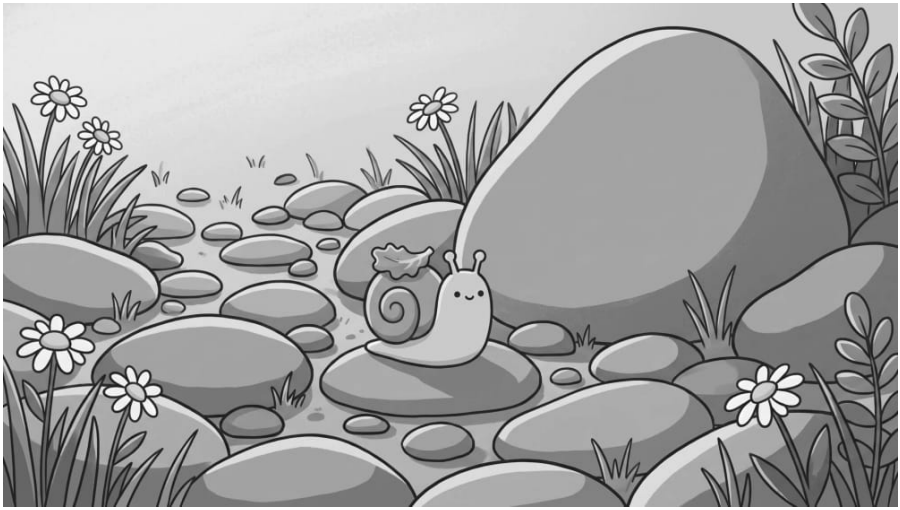

It is the best salad in the whole wide garden.

He eats a little round hole right through the leaf.

Munch, munch, munch.

Tino is very, very full.

Tino carries a small piece of lettuce home for Mama.

Slowly, slowly, slowly.

The sun sinks low and the garden turns gold.

Mama and Tino share the leaf.

Tino yawns and curls up in his shell.

Goodnight, little snail.
